WE NOMINATE

Francis Joseph Maguire, 39-year old lieutenant (second-in-command) of the Borough of Princeton's Police Department, who has brought new honors to an outstanding municipal Department. Word came several days ago that the Massachusetts-born Maguire, a member of the Borough force since 1952, is one of the two police executives in entire State of New Jersey to qualify this year for the F.B.I. Academy in Washington, D.C., an intensely selective institution which for civilian law enforcement agencies is in many respects the equivalent of the National War Colleges.

Early in August Maguire, as concerned with current developments in police work as a research scientist is in his area of specialization, will enter upon a 3-month program of study that since its launching in the 1930's has graduated less than 4,500 men handpicked from police organizations of all sizes. In confirming Maguire's appointment, an assignment sought for a Borough representative for some six years, one member of Borough Council emphasized: "Here is a dedicated officer of exceptional calibre whose Academy experiences will be shared with the other members of our force to the enduring benefit of Princeton."

Interested in public service since his years in Brooklyn's (N.Y.) Manual Training High School, and at one time intrigued with the prospect of either Annapolis or West Point, Maguire first came into "direct contact" with Princeton during his World War II naval duty. At Chapel Hill, N.C., as a Naval Aviation Cadet, he was associated with television commentator "Bud" Palmer, Princeton University basketball star of yesteryear. In Florida, as a dive-bomber pilot, it was the base executive officer, Sumner Rulon-Miller (Princeton '36) and ,more significantly, his wife, then a Wave, a twin daughter of the University's newly retired Senior Procter, Harry E. Gaulev (see page 17).

Five years here with the Princeton Film Center preceded his appointment to the Borough Department. He resigned from the Film Center's distribution services with every intention of entering the insurance field, heard by chance about an opening on the force, and proceeded to score a record-breaking 98% on the qualifying examination. Advancement to one of the four sergeantcies came in the spring of 1960, four years after he had been the top-ranking member of the State Police Course for Municipal Officers at Sea Girt. In the fall of 1961, following still another round of competitive examinations, he yielded his responsibilities as Juvenile Officer to move upward.

Maguire, the father of three, whose avocations range from excellent "amateur carpentry" to exploring the Appalachian Trail with 12-year old Michael (of basketball renown at St. Paul's School), believes strongly in the "professionalization" of his demanding profession. Over the past decade, with the support of a succession of, conscientious Borough administrations, he has participated in a dozen training programs, including the highly regarded Instructors Seminars at near-by Rutgers, and has made a habit of devoting his leisuretime hours to such volumes as "Modern Criminal Investigation", "Elements of Police Science" and "Police Methods for Today and Tomorrow."

For understanding that a "cop's lot is not a happy one and that his job is never done"; for urging others to share his conviction that in his day's work "every effort and minute must count"; for his devotion to the community "I am permitted to serve"; he is our nominee as

POLLS: HOW ACCURATE?

Very, If Done by Gallup. The date was July 12, 1936. On that day, the Princeton-based American Institute of Public Opinion (more generally known as "The Gallup Poll") came up with two statements that were to revolutionize and energize the awakening world of public opinion research.

Up to that time, "The Literary Digest" straw vote, mailed to some 20,000,000 Americans, had compiled an amazing record of accuracy in predicting presidential election winners. But, on that July day in 1936, the year-old Gallup Poll suddenly stood up and announced that:

Republican presidential candidate Alfred M. Landon was clearly trailing Democratic incumbent Franklin D. Roosevelt in popular support.

If "The Literary Digest" were to continue its usual course of mailing ballots only to lists of car owners and telephone subscribers (sufficiently precise up to then), it would be showing just the opposite, with 56% favoring Landon, 44% for Roosevelt.

Landon supporters reacted rapidly, angrily and (so they thought at the time) justifiably. But perhaps no one was more indignant than the editor of "The Literary Digest," who publicly pooh-poohed the Gallup finding and asked: "Who is this Dr. Gallup anyway? Why isn't he even in 'Who's Who?'"

Yet, before long, the Gallup statements were both verified and vindicated. President Roosevelt won over Mr. Landon, the governor of Kansas, by a 523 to 8 margin in electoral votes — and the supposedly fail-proof augury that: "As goes Maine, so goes the nation" was ruefully modified to: "As goes Maine, so goes Vermont."

Further, just as the Gallup prediction had said based on a special tabulation of like segments of its pollees), "The Literary Digest" straw vote turned out to be: exactly 56% for Landon, 44% for Roosevelt, a fatal error which was to prove instrumental in the quick demise of the magazine. What's more, the answer to "Who is this Dr. Gallup anyway?" became quickly known to most politicians and to students of politics.

And, as a final token of success, there was also an answer to "Why isn't he even in 'Who's Who?'" The keepers of that august registry immediately included Dr. Gallup in their next edition, and he's been there ever since.

76% FOR JOHNSON, 20% FOR GOLDWATER, 4% UNDECIDED: Dr. George Gallup, founder and director of the famed Gallup Poll, examines the final pre-convention "trial heat" figures with his son George H. Gallup III, editor with the Princeton research firm. In its 29-year history, the polling organization has erred but once. Since 1948, when basic changes in survey procedures were instituted, average deviation from national election results has been less than two percentage points. (Staff Photo)

Goldwater vs. Johnson. It is evident from the quiet calm now prevailing at the Gallup headquarters on Bank Street that surveying this year's presidential contest is being approached with the usual meticulous care and unflustered equanimity which distinguishes Dr. Gallup's work from that of most so-called "pollsters." And, for good reason.

In the 29 years since its beginnings, the Gallup Poll has reported the box-score political sentiment in every national election — both presidential and congressional. Its final figures have pointed to the winning candidate, or party, in every election save one — the election of 1948. And, since the 1948 error, the Gallup organization's final survey results have deviated from absolute accuracy, as reported in election results, by less than a wafer-thin margin of two percentage points.

In 1948, to the obvious joy of Harry Truman and the Democrats, Republican Thomas E. Dewey was named as the probable winner by the Gallup Poll—and a fast-finishing Mr. Truman upset the statistical apple-cart. But, of the 1948 error and its "I-told-you-so's" from uninitiates who equate careful, scientific opinion research with some kind of vile necromancy, Dr. Gallup doesn't answer: "The less said the better."

Quite the opposite. He openly admits: "We made a mistake — and we learned a lot from it. We stopped our polling a few days before the end of the campaign, and therefore didn't catch the last-minute developments which can always shift opinion particularly among the undecided. Ever since, we have kept going up to the last of the campaigns, and record of accuracy over the past 15-plus years is the result."

The Year Is Here. Any presidential election year is considered the prime time for knocking pollsters, as Dr. Gallup and his associates know full well. In fact, they call it "open season on polling organizations, with most of the shooting coming from backers of any candidate whose standing in poll results is less than satisfactory to them."

The firing has already started, indiscriminately but vigorously, and this year's sniping can be expected to be carried out probably more savagely and with higher muzzle-velocity than in past campaigns, says one Princetonian. But nobody at the Gallup Poll is heading for cover.

Why not? First, there's that impressive record of past accuracy. Then there is the high reliability of the methods used, carefully tested and retested, skillfully and astutely applied. Third (and there are many more) is the knowledge that scientific sampling polls have added many new dimensions to political reporting. To quote Dr. Gallup:

- No other way has ever been found to record and to chart the trend of popularity of Presidents and opposing candidates for office.
- No other way has ever been found to measure and report the views of independent voters, of uncommitted voters, of any other population group.
- No other way has been found to measure accurately the impact of events on political sentiment.

Goldwater No Surprise. The nomination last week of Senator Barry Goldwater came as no particular surprise to either Dr. Gallup or his associates. They — and anyone else who saw a Gallup Poll release late last March—knew of the Senator's strong lead where it counted most, among the party's "pros."

Despite a relatively poor showing by the Senator in the New Hampshire Primary, held a short time before, a survey of some 3,000 Republican county chairmen throughout the nation came up with almost as many first choices for Mr. Goldwater as for all other potential candidates combined.

And, as Dr. Gallup pointed out at the time "Since the county chairmen have a hand in selecting the convention delegates — or are themselves delegates — their views are an important factor in assessing the current political situation." In other words, what took place in the Cow Palace was merely a reflection of what had long been going on out in the bullpen.

It was not, however, a reflection of the opinions of rank-and-file Republicans, whose pre-convention preferences were found by the Gallup organization to be almost equally divided among the leading candidates. Nor, judging from another survey, did the GOP platform committee accurately represent the "mainstream" of Republican opinion in such matters as civil rights, certain areas of foreign policy and foreign aid. Rather, it seems to have merely redesignated the former Goldwater rivalet the "mainstream" — and to have written the platform accordingly.

What Are the Odds? All of this, of course, adds up to the one big question uppermost in the minds of Republicans and Democrats, conservatives and liberals, Northerners and Southerners, Westerners and members of the newly dubbed and neatly snubbed "Eastern Establishment." That is: "Can Senator Goldwater win?"

Current answer from The Gallup Poll is, "Certainly it is possible. But the real question is not whether it is possible for Senator Goldwater to win, it's how likely is he to overcome the sizeable lead which President Johnson has at this time?"

A look at the Gallup figures for an approximately comparable time in 1948 gives a clue. Then, Dewey was reported to be leading Truman by 11 percentage points — a lead, which President Truman overcame, eventually winning and thereby giving self appointed humorists the chance for such word-plays as "The Gallup Poll has changed its telephone number to Truman Won-Oh-Oh-Oh."

As of now, the Gallup results show that Senator Goldwater has a very much tougher job ahead than Truman did in '48. Just before the opening of the GOP convention, the figures showed President Johnson to be the choice of 76% of voters to 20% for Senator Goldwater, and four per cent undecided — a 56 point difference compared with the 11 points in 1948.

With these facts in mind, both about the present state of the contest and the established accuracy of the Gallup polling techniques, anyone can see that "Senator Goldwater has a lot more opinion-changing to do this year" than Mr. Truman faced in '48. But, win or lose, the Senator will undoubtedly be surprised to find, come November, that his final tally is no more than two percentage points away from that already recorded by the talented pollers on Bank Street, Dr. Gallup and his associates at the American Institute of Public Opinion.

FIRE ON BOUDINOT STREET: Tuesday afternoon Princeton's fire and first aid units battled an extensive, extremely smoky fire which broke out in the top floor of the Philip Collins' home, 12 Boudinot Street. A general alarm was sounded at 4:01 p.m., and the blaze took two hours and 20 minutes to extinguish. There was no one living in the house at the time, and the cause is not yet known. Damage is believed to have been heavy. (Howard Schader Photo)

PROTESTS SURFACE

Over Four - Foot Cluster. The regular monthly meeting of the Township Zoning Board moved quietly and speedily along last Thursday evening with the board approving four out of the first five variances to come before it, but when it came to the sixth and final item on the agenda, a proposal to build a swimming pool complex, the roof fell in.

The second floor meeting room of Township Hall had been slowly but steadily filling up throughout the meeting, and it became quite obvious that many had come for the same reason. Attorney Theodore T. Tams, representing owner and developer George W. Warnecke of New York City, never did get a chance to present the plans calling for the building of four pools to be known as the "Princeton Aquatic Club" on a vacant lot next to the shopping center.

Residents from the area around the center took the floor immediately to complain of the proposal. Irving Glassman of 77 Randall Road spoke first, condemning the pool on moral grounds. He stated that "the people in the shopping center area have always suffered from the granting of large variances," and that there was a moral obligation on the part of the township to protect children and property rights in the area.

Several residents got their feet to protest the fact to that they had not heard anything about the proposal, except what they had read in the town papers that day. There were numerous requests for the board to postpone the meeting in order for the residents to have time to secure legal counsel and map out a defense.

Board chairman Russell L. Van Cleve replied that Mr. Tams and his clients had complied with all legal requirements including the notifying of all residents living within 200 feet of the proposed structure, and that Mr. Tams had a perfect right to argue the case at this meeting. Many of the people present stated that they lived outside the limit requiring notification, but they did have a valid interest in the proposal.

Mr. Tams stated that his clients had no objection to a postponement of the hearing, and after some deliberation the board decided to hold a special meeting on Thursday, August 13. This brought further complaints from the residents, many of whom stated that they would be on vacation at this time and the meeting should be held over until September.

Mr. Tams pointed out that this was unsuitable for the builders because they wished to finish the pools in the fall. Mr. Van Cleve stated that a time suitable to everyone could never be agreed upon, and that a "considerable concession" had already been made in granting a month's postponement. He ended the session amid cries of "undemocratic procedure" from the residents.

After the session, William Tashlick, architect for Sylvan Pools, attempted to calm some of the residents by describing how the pools would operate. He pointed out that the pools would be open on a private membership basis costing each family $250 the first year, including a $150 initiation fee and $100 a year thereafter. The pools, including a bathhouse and filter unit, would be surrounded by a six-foot fence separating them from the shopping center, and would be staffed by approximately 16 persons.

However, there are other areas of discontent among the area residents. Many feel that the location of the pools will bring even more traffic to an already busy area. Some feel the construction of these pools will delay a pool in the new Community Park, and added to this is a definite dissatisfaction with the whole shopping center.

The August 13th meeting promises to be a big one, but the zoning board can only recommend action to be taken. The final decision will rest with the Township Committee.

stay in Heemstede, Holland, about 12 miles outside of Amsterdam. Miss Golden, who will be 18-years-old in October and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Golden of Pennington has lived and studied under the sponsorship of the American Field Service.

She spent the majority of her time abroad living with her Dutch family." Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pels Rijcken, their 19 year-old daughter and 13-year-old son. "They were all marvelous," Miss Golden said. "It couldn't have been better."

Before leaving the United States she had been tutored in Dutch grammar for a couple of weeks and thus found the language barrier not too difficult to overcome at first. However, "There were many amusing incidents," she recalled. "Once I used the phrase 'hello madame' instead of 'hello sir' when I was introduced to my 'sister's' flute teacher."

Miss Golden, who plans to enter Barnard College in the fall, described Amsterdam as a cultural center offering such attractions as plays, concerts, museums and even a performance of Shakespeare presented in English. Furthermore, she said, the people, though reserved by American standards, were "friendly and open-hearted" throughout.

"There are a good many people who don't like Americans, however," she added. "It's understandable too because about the only Americans they see are tourists." Miss Golden, who hopes to return to Europe during her junior year in college, applauded the AFS program as a good idea which should continue.

Sponsored by the Washington Crossing Park Citizens Committee, the play will run this Friday and Saturday nights and the following weekend.

gles a wife and two children plus next door neighbor Romy Schneider who needs a husband so she can collect a $15 million inheritence.

The film has a couple of good rounds including one uproarious scene involving a Hertz rental car ad. Despite this, however, "Good Neighbor Sam," though extremely well meaning, turns out to be a rather dull person.

TWO CONCERTS SET

News Of The THEATRES

THE GARDEN

Lady in a Cage (now through Tuesday) is at least a welcome respite from the mediocre series of comic and bedroom farces that have limped into town the past couple of weeks. This highly controversial picture has been labled as "reprehensible," "sadistic" and "socially hurtful."

Olivia de Havilland, as the caged lady, is trapped about 12 feet in the air when her self-service elevator stalls between floors. From that point on she spends a terrifying day trying to cope with a drunken bum, his prostitute friend, and the torments of three teen-age punks who wander in to the deserted house. While the lady watches, the intruders ransack her house, commit murder and attempts to kill her.

At the end of this ordeal, the lady has been transformed into a caged lioness. Director Walter Grauman has gone out of his way to add some really gruesome shots to the proceedings, and, all in all, seems more intent on teen-age thriller seeking than making a good movie.

PRINCE AND PLAYHOUSE

Good Neighbor Sam (now through Tuesday) is a forgettable bantamweight farce that tries mightily, but can't seem to solid punches.

Adroit as he is, Jack Lemmon fights a losing battle against a pretty dull story. As an adman Lemmon handles the account of Edward G. Robinson, a milk executive, who wants only good faithful family men representing him. As a family man, Lemmon jug-

GOLDWATER: "AN ABSOLUTE DISASTER": The results are in from San Francisco and Ernest Best (right) views Goldwater's nomination as "an absolute" disaster for the Republicans — and the country. Paul Younger adds that the Arizona senator has "changed the direction and character" of the Grand Old Party.

Question of the Week

Question: What do you think of Senator Barry Goldwater's nomination?

Where asked: Nassau Street

Marvin Chambers, Bordentown, member of University grounds department. I don't known who else they could have put in there. We may be unhappy later or we may not; you never know what will happen One thing I like about Goldwater: he's not mealy-mouthed He comes right out and says what he means. There's been too much back-slapping in politics, in my opinion. I think we'll find that Goldwater has split the Republican party right down the middle.

Ernest Best, Easton, Pa., Professor at Lyfayette doing reseach at Princeton University: I think it was an absolute disaster. I think it was neither good for the United States or for the Republican Party. I think Goldwater represents the interests of special privilege groups — he's much more interested in property rights than he is in justice. I think anyone who knows how the government operates, economically, knows that if his policies prevail, the government will operate in the interest of those who have against the interests of everybody else. Speaking as a Canadian, I think the influence his nomination has had on foreign countries is very disturbing.

Paul Younger, 220 Eisenhower Street, Graduate student, religion department: I agree down the line with Mr Best. I never voted Republican but any sympathies I've had for the party are gone. It's hard to say what he's done to the Republican Party. I don't think he's split it to the extent that someone else will run against him, but, certainly, he's changed the character and direction of the party in a radical way.

Eleanor Cahill, Levittown, Pa., secretary at Princeton University: My honest reaction is it's a shame. I feel the convention was rigged and unfair to the other Republican candidates. On television it showed that the followers of Goldwater weren't even paying the slightest bit of attention to how the others felt. I think it was a real sad blow for the Republican Party.

Mrs. Bernard Glover, Robert Road, owner of the Betty Wright Shop, Nassau Street: I, personally, don't like him. I feel he's a little too quick-tempered. Truthfully, I'm afraid of him as president. Kennedy was quick-tempered,too, but not like Goldwater. I think he's caused such turmoil that he will hurt the Republican Party irreparably.

James Crawley, Hightstown, owner of service and parts business for food equipment: I'm glad to see it. Why? Because I think he's a man of his convictions: he has enough guts to stand up for what he believes in. Rigged convention? Maybe but I think it was just a case of a more powerful Goldwater backing. There are always going to be rumors of that, especially after a first ballot nomination but let the rumor-mongers prove what they say—not just start rumors.

Mrs. Thomas Truitt, 144 Riverside Drive, housewife: I'm ill. I'm very opposed to it. Although the morning after seems very tragic, I hope that in some crazy way the party will be able to work out of it and that everything will come

IT'S NEW To Us

WHAT AND WHERE

Need a Dance Band? You never know when you'll need to rent a wheelchair or hire a dance band. And do you know where to get scissors harpened?

Snippets of information like this are often found, yellowed with age, between two recipes in a cook-book or stuffed into a wallet next to all the credit cards. Or they are not found at all because you threw the wallet away.

Here's a list of various places that do or sell various things. If you know of others, you might share your knowledge by dropping a line to "It's New to Us."

Incidentally, everyone you talk to speaks nostalgically of the days when a town always had a "fix-it" shop that could mend everything but a broken heart. Now, when it's cheaper to replace a broken object than repair it, the "fix-it" man has gone on down the road to greener pastures.

Missing Jig-saw Pieces. Lost puzzle pieces can be made to exact size and shape by Queenstown Craft, Pennington-Lawrenceville Road, 737-1876.

Custom - made Mattresses. Antique beds frequently come in odd, non-contemporary sizes. Nassau Interiors will make a mattress to fit. 162 Nassau. 924-2561.

Custom Sheets. For that same odd-size bed, see Stone's Linen Shop, 20 Nassau, 924-4381.

Christmas Card Lists. Take your Christmas cards and the list of people who are to receive them, to Dorothy Couchman, 20 Nassau, 924-2828. She will hand-address and sign them all, using "John and Mary" on some, "Mr. and Mrs. John Jones" on others— whatever you ask her to do.

Wedding Invitations. Mrs. Couchman will also address by hand, all wedding invitations, separating receptinn guests from non-reception guests, and checking obscure addresses.

Welding. The andirons have suddenly snapped in two, your favorite wrought-iron candlestick has broken, and that bike needs a touch of the torch. Rosedale Mills, Lower Alexander Street, 924-0134.

Custom Photo-finishing. A cherished picture — at least, you hope it will come out that way — needs more than the usual standard developing and printing and you have no darkroom. Gallery 100, at 100 Nassau, will take care of you. The Gallery will also make giant photo-murals of your favorite negative.

Garments for the Elderly. For women, Landau's at 114 Nassau, has slips with built-up shoulders, service-weight hose with cotton feet and tops, bloomers, union suits, "Mother Hubbard" gowns, and vests among other items. Sizes in all, up to 52.

For men, the Army Navy Store, 14½ Witherspoon, has wide-cut trousers that older men prefer to the tapered kind, union suits for cold weather and heavy work shoes.

Dance Band for a Party. Bernie Olbrys at MacDaid's, 20 Nassau, 924-1746. Also Douglas Griggs, 92-7780.

Rock 'n Roll Teen Party. King Oliver, 924-5265, is a versatile musician who can, with his colleagues, provide rock 'n roll for the youngster or progressive jazz for the older and wiser members of the family.

Magician for a Children's Party. Roy Hutson, 613 Snowden Lane, 924-0187. A very young magician with considerable skill.

Scissors Sharpened. The University Store on University Place will sharpen any kind of scissor, including pinking shears.

Wheelbarrow Wheel. Suddenly the wheel snaps on your wheelbarrow. A replacement is at Tiger Auto, 26 Witherspoon. These wheels are also designed for wagons, golf carts, or anything else that needs to roll.

Bridal Shower Umbrella. For the bridal shower you've planned for your best friend, borrow the silver umbrella from LaVake's, 54 Nassau. "Borrow" is the word: there is no charge.

Thatcher. A thatcher is a machine that takes out thatch. That is, old, dead grass from your lawn. Rent one from Moore's Mower Shop, 860 State Road, 924-3608. Mr. Moore also has power chainsaws for cutting down trees.

Non - power Tools. Moore's will also rent the non-power, or muscle, tools. A sledge hammer, say, for pounding in those horse-shoe stakes.

Clothesline Support. Not everybody has a drier, not everybody has a clothes-drying "tree." Ever try to find an old-fashioned clothes-line support for the wire you have strung from tree to tree? Urkess, 27 Witherspoon Street.

Fancy Birthday Cakes. Balt Pastry Shop, in the Princeton Shopping Center, will bake a cake like a tennis court, a football field or Mt. Everest, decorated with appropriate icing and peopled with halfbacks, brides, babies, Martians or what have you. Wedding cakes, too.

Wheel Chairs to Rent. Grandmother coming for the afternoon? Forer Pharmacy, 160 Witherspoon, will provide a wheel chair for part of a day, or on a long-term basis. Hos-heard in performance with orchestras in New York, Philadelphia, Paris, London and Brussels.

Mr. Trec made his Carnegie Hall debut in 1954 at the age of 20, and was described by the N.Y. Herald Tribune as presenting "the most brilliant young debut of the receot past." The program will consist of Mozart's sonata K 296, Beethoven's sonata No. 3 and the Brahms sonata Op.108.

The following evening, Miss Boatwright will perform a diversified program of cantatas, sonatas and arias, including works hy Buxtehude and Berg, as well as arias from Mozart, Poulenc and Handel. She will be accompanied by a chamber ensemble consisting of Howard Boatwright, violin, Robert Conant, harpsicord, and Robert Helps, piano. Both programs will begin at 8.40, and the management has advised that reservations be made by telephone. (215-847-5303)

MURDER MYSTERY SET

For Bucks Playhouse. "The Choice is Murder," by Denois Heber, to be presented on Broadway this fall, will have its world premiere at the Bucks County Playhouse this Monday and continue for two weeks through Saturday evening, August 8. Evening performances begin at 8:30, and matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2.

In his debut as a playwright, Mr. Heber has devised a plot in which the murderer is no secret, but the audience must wait until the last few minutes to find out how he will give himself away. Louis Edmonds and Gerald S. O'Loughlin will star in the mystery, directed by Douglas Seale.

Mr. Edmonds was seen at the Playhouse earlier this season as "The Actor" in "The Play's The Thing," and has just returned from the Boston Arts Festival where he was seen as the Earl of Warwick in "St. Joan." Mr. O'Loughlin played on Broadway this past season with Kirk Douglas in "One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest," and has been on several leading television dramatic programs.

DYER-BENNETT TO SING

At Music Circus. The Sunday afternoon series at the Lambertville Music Circus will feature Richard Dyer-Bennet this Sunday at 4.

Born in England, son of a British army major, Mr. Dyer-Bennet was brought up in California and educated at Berkeley. He has written countless numbers of ballads narrating current news events, and fans of Richard Dyer-Bennet claim he is not a folk singer, but instead a minstrel

This Sunday will also be "Washington Square Day" at the Music Circus, from 2 to 7 p.m. Some of the aspects of New York's Greenwich Village will be exhibited on the grounds and there will also be an out-door art show arranged by Modern Masters Gallery of New York City. All local folk singers are invited to bring their guitars and banjos and join in a hootenanny.

Opening on Tuesday night for a two week run will be "The Sound of Music." Marilyn Landers and Kenneth Smith have the lead roles, and the production is directed by Louis Macmillan. Performance time is 8:30 Tuesday through Friday, 6 and 9:30 on Saturday and 7:30 on Sunday.

"My Fair Lady" is next at the Music Circus, opening August 4 in the Sunday afternoon series, Pete Seeger will be the next featured performer.

An Exotic Length of Fabric? If you have heirloom brocade or yards of hand-woven fabric you purchased abroad, take it to The Fabric Shop on Chambers Street for custom-made drapes. You knew, of course, that the shop makes draperies, but maybe you did-not know that they will do the work even though you bought the yardage elsewhere. They also make buttonholes, but not in your drapes.

TO PAVE PRETTY BROOK

Despite Protests, Township Committee engaged in a mild tussle with the University and a private citizen who wasn't there Monday night over the paving of Pretty Brook Road and then proceeded to pass the ordinance unanimously.

The hassle did not arise over the paving of the road. Apparently everyone — the meeting was attended by half a dozen people and three reporters — was in favor of that. The disagreement stemmed from the problem of who was to pay for the road improvement.

The ordinance calls for the Township to pay for one-third the cost of $26,250 with the rest of the burden falling on the shoulders of the landowners whose property abuts Pretty Brook. The ordinance does, however, state that the municipal government will pick up an additional portion of the tab if the property owners do not benefit accordingly from the improvement.

The University's protest, the milder of the two, was presented by John P. Moran, director of physical planning at the University. He stated that the benefits to the University were questionable and, secondly, that Pretty Brook is a circulation or through street rather than a local street as the ordinance indicates.

The Man's in Washington. Registering a protest in absentia was Abbot Low Moffat, who identified himself in a letter as a member of the New York State assembly for 15 years and a new resident of Princeton. Mr. Moffat and his wife own lots 65 and 66 which are bounded on the south by Pretty Brook.

Alfred L. Test, director of real estate for the University, said Mr. Moffat was called away to Washington and presented his protest, a three-page document to Committee. Mr. Moffat's complaints were similar to those of the University.

A GREETING FROM THE MAYOR: Borough Mayor Henry S. Patterson welcomes Nelson Barreto, Jose Arroyo and Catherine Gallow to Princeton. The three children arrived here on Thursday as part of a group of 56 Fresh Air Fund kids from New York who will spend at least two weeks of the summer here with Princeton area residents. The number is the second highest in the state and twice as big as last year's. (Staff Photo)

He asserted that the ordinance would discriminate against "the five property owners whose lands fall opposite the last two-tenths of a mile of a road that extends one and seven-tenths miles in Princeton Township, since all the paving — one and five-tenths miles — up to that point was paid for by the Township and no part of the cost was assessed against any abutting property owner."

The letter agreed with the University that Pretty Brook is not a local road since it connects northern Princeton and Hopewell. The letter was not officially received by Committee, as Mayor William L. Wilson explained, because it did not bear Mr. Moffat's signature.

In any event, the ordinance was passed after it was pointed out that the Board of Improvement Assessors has the function of submitting to public hearing any claims by property owners that they are not sufficiently benefitting by the improvement. Committee reiterated its contention that Pretty Brook is not a circulation street, as indicated by the fact that it isn't paved.

Picking Up the Pace. Most of the remainder of the hour-and-a-half-long meeting moved along more rapidly. Committee approved unanimously the zoning ordinance amendment on the agenda for some weeks which implements the new school costs agreement with the University. The university has agreed to pay the Township the difference between what it costs to educate University children in Township schools and what the University pays in school taes.

In other action, Committee appoved three resolutions unanimously. One gives the Township power to borrow money to pay the architect's fee for the building of the proposed joint public library; the second incorporated $5,000 from a defaulted performance bond to make improvements in Woodside Lane and Mason Drive; and the third cancelled a $65,000 performance bond for a Great Road sewer constructed by the Country Day School of the Sacred Heart.

Otherwise, it was reported that the closing of College Road has gone smoothly except for two-day delay in the relocation of traffic signals. There were no major problems here, it was agreed.

The Rocky Hill Council has voted 3-2 against a sewer proposal advanced by the Township. And(finally, Committee moved for an ordinance to be introduced at the next meeting in regard to the paving of Oakland Road. Citizens from the area requested the action at the last meeting on July 6.

SIX FINED

In Borough Court. Six Princeton area residents were fined Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Fined $15 each were Thomas S. Knox, 17, Mountain Avenue, passing in an intersection; Alfred D. Yannes, 39, State Road, passing in a "no-passing" zone; Henry Owens Jr., 30, 14 Quarry Street, failing to yield at an intersection; and Benjamin R. Warren, 21, 71 Wiggins Street, driving without lights.

Matthew J. English, 24, Skillman, and Martin L. Beck, 63, 30 Westcott Road, paid $20

Bells Are Ringing

The first weekends of summer are always filled with weddings, and it can sometimes become confusing trying to remember the date, time and place of each invitation.

Take, for example, the case of a Princeton couple who set out last Saturday to attend the wedding of Susan Behr the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Behr, at 4 p.m. Arriving in ample time, they sat down in Trinity Church along with other wedding guests, some of whom they knew.

However, just as the bride's mother came down the aisle, they realized they were in the wrong pew at the proper hour. As it was now too late to beat a hasty retreat, they stayed for the marriage of Anne Breuer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Breuer. The Behr wedding took place simultaneously a few blocks away in the University Chapel.

The money will be used for new equipment and for general operation and maintenance of the company. Howard F. Barbour, president, cited the following for special credit: George Seitz, Charlotte Parsell, Sam Simpson and James Dawson.

Facts You Should Know About Oriental Rugs
SYMBOLS IN ORIENTAL RUG MOTIFS
● In Oriental carpets "The Tree of Life" is supported by two peacocks facing each other or by other animals or human forms. Nightingales and birds are perched on the tall and colorful branches: sometimes the tree is represented by a bunch of flowers in a vase or just by leaves of different size and shape, fine leaves and large leaves with shoots, tendrils and rosettes combined together in a design; such as the Boteh design — symbol of the sacred flame of Zoroaster.

GOING BACK in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO

July 23, 1959. Five years ago it was steamy in Princeton for more reason than the weather. Cause of the high emotional temperature was a suggestion by the United Community Fund that the names of all business contributors should be printed in the town's newspapers, together with the amounts they give.

A poll on the subject came up with a resounding "NO! Reasons: a lot of them, ranging from "all contributions should be confidential" to "a shocking invasion of privacy, just a fancy style of blackmail." UF business contributions, save for all but exceptionally large ones either in terms of dollars or percentage of donors, have since remained unpublished.

Ah, youth, dept.: Princeton paleontologist Elwyn L. Simons, shoveling away in an Egyptian quarry, five years ago had just come upon a find which should have added more briskness to the tread of the most aged Princetonians. It was part of the skull of a small monkey, and its estimated age was 35,000,000 years

It wasn't quite a case of man-bites-dog in late July 1959, but it was certainly a variation on a theme. A young Princetonian had been charged with failure to yield right-of-way to another motor vehicle. The result: a fender-bender collision at Harrison and Prospect. The unoffending other vehicle: a Township police car.

TEN YEARS AGO

July 22, 1954. Princeton ten years ago was suffering from a drought the likes of which had not occurred within recent memory. Total rainfall since the first of the year had been a mere 15 inches, eight inches below normal and the least that had fallen in at least 75 years.

Nor did the weather bureau long-range prediction for the balance of the summer give any encouragement. "It will," the isobar specialists said dryly, "get worse before it gets better." It did.

The ten red brick homes known as Maple Terrace which stand opposite Princeton Hospital at the corner of Witherspoon Street and Franklin Avenue, had just been conveyed by Gerard B. Lambert to the Borough housing authority in return for its $45,000 bond issue The transaction thus completed a 16-year highly successful experiment in low-cost housing here.

Pun-of-the-week ten years ago concerned Morven, which was being refurbished as the executive mansion for the government and his lady. Delays in the work caused one observer to wonder: "What's the delay? They're only Meyner alterations."

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

July 21, 1949. Princeton's ever-growing school population was causing changes and additions to existing buildings even fifteen years ago this month. The Township, for example, had just turned over the first spadeful of earth to herald the start of a $542,000 addition to Valley Road School. Speakers at the ceremony: Mr. Princeton (otherwise known as B. Franklin Bunn) and Myron E. Wake, the then board of education president.

Advertised in TOWN TOPICS fifteen years ago in July was the fact that "paddies (whatever they were) are back." They were available at a now long-gone establishment, The Exchange, 164 Nassau.

Offered as entertainment to help Princetonians forget the heat 15 years back were, to name a few: "Oedipus Rex" at Murray Theatre; "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" at McCarter; "The Great Gatsby" at The Playhouse, and "Volpone" at The Garden. Enough first-rate productions to keep even the weariest commuter and his heat-weakened wife busily occupied.

. . . AND NOW, A QUOITS CHAMPION: B. Franklin Bunn (at left) added a new distinction to his unlimited array of honors last Wednesday when he teamed with Armand Bedard to win the quoits tournament at Princeton Hospital's annual picnic in Squatters Grove. Presenting the winners' award to Mr. Bunn is the hospital's personnel director, Albert F. Ritardi. Mr. Bunn, a former mayor of both Princeton Borough and of Princeton Township, was for many years a member of the hospital board, now carries the title of "trustee emeritus." His teammate, Mr. Bedard, is the husband of the supervisor of the hospital's operating room.

out all right in the end. I agree with the "New Republic" which wrote about a month-and-a-half ago that if Goldwater won the nomination, the Republicans would be committing political suicide. I can not go along with the platform as it stands. . .the party just isn't keeping up with the times. I don't think the convention was rigged but I do feel the extremists were strong and unified and had the upper hand. They looked stronger than they probably are.

Paul Alciere, Hamilton Square, programmer for Institute of Defense Analysis, Prospect Avenue: I think it's a wonderful thing—for the Democrats! I don't think he has much of a chance—I hope. I'm sort of a liberal, certainly much more than Goldwater is. I don't think he has split the party, however. I think, before too long, the separate factions of the Republican Party will be sitting down with each other, drinking coffee.

Charles Van Note, Hopewell, carpenter: I don't think much of it. I'm a labor man and I feel he's impulsive and definitely anti-labor. I think he favors a federal right to work law that would outlaw labor unions. I think if he is defeated—and defeated badly—it will just about be the end of the Republican Party. I don't see any leader coming up. I don't see where they have a man with any appeal to the people to the extent he could be elected.

Miss Marion Perone, 3 Willow Street, Princeton High student: Well, I've been thinking very bad things if Goldwater gets in. I definitely don't think he's the man. He's much too abrupt for politics; he has no tact whatsoever. Truthfully, I'd rather have seen Scranton get it, but I think the country is too well put together for something like that to split the party. I think both sides will get together again.

Ross Filion, Hopewell, research assistant, psychology department, Princeton University: I don't care for Goldwater, myself. I believe he is a little outdated in his views. For one thing, I don't think the federal government is as top-heavy as he feels; I don't think he has sufficiently responsible, well thought-out views on foreign policy. I was just talking to a friend about the question of how severe the split in the Republican Party is and we both agree that the liberal leaders decided to let the Conservatives have their day when whoever they put up against Johnson wouldn't win anyway. It's probably a little exaggerated to say the party has been definitely split.

B. J. Roth, Westfield, salesman. As I had expected it for the last two months, it didn't surprise me. I think he has an uphill fight but for the first time in a number of years it's going to give the voters a clear choice between two definite philosophies. I also feel in the future, as Goldwater talks as a presidential candidate and not as an ultra-conservative, the people won't find him as extreme as they feared. I saw "The New York Times" took him to task for calling Johnson a faker on civil rights. Well, it's the honest truth. Johnson voted against civil rights measures all the time until last year. Goldwater is just a blunt-spoken man.

Miss Dianne Grover, Lawrenceville, student at Mount Holyoke College: I view it with mixed feelings. I'm not a Goldwater supporter. As a liberal Republican I feel he is much too conservative. I don't believe the Republican Party will disintegrate or split completely, but I do feel it will be a different party with Goldwater in control. He says he will reunite the party but what will happen remains to be seen. I think this will leave a lot of Republicans uncertain for a while.

C. W. Hubbell, Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, engineer: Seems to be cut and dried for Goldwater. I felt Scranton might have won, had he started sooner. I don't think it was rigged for Goldwater—it appeared that way on TV—but I just feel too many delegates had committed themselves to Goldwater. As far as the party-splitting, these things always happen but then every one usually falls back into place again.

STAFF RETIREMENTS

From the University. The close of Princeton University's year was marked by the retirement of the two veteran members of its administrative and professional staff, Miss Ruth N. Latshaw, 120 Prospect Avenue, head of Firestone Memorial Library's classification system and subject catologuing section, and Leigh B. Harris of Van Dyke Road, Hopewell, a glass blower in the Palmer Physics Laboratory.

The university has also announced the retirement of other staff employees. One of these, Miss Frances E. Callahan of 45 Chestnut Street, a library, assistant had been with the university for 49 years.

The No. 3 Outing, carrying forward and strengthening a Princeton tradition datiog back to post-Civil War years, has been scheduled for The Squatters Club Grove on Saturday, August 6, under the chairmanship of Richard H. HIGH SCHOOL CHOIR RETURNS: At 10:30 Friday night, the 55-member Princeton High School Choir returned to Princeton and a large welcoming crowd of parents, brothers and sisters, and friends. In its month-long tour of Europe, with concerts at Spoleto, Budapest and Cheltenham, the choir covered more than 10,000 miles and, according to one of the seven accompanying adults, "walked at least 200 more." Shown leaving one of the buses which had met the choir at Kennedy International Airport is Mrs. Seitz, wife of PHS Administrative Assistant J. Alfred Seitz. (Staff Photo)

Dear Princeton:

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Last Friday night, Princeton High School's highly talented, much-admired choir returned home after what can only be described as a triumphal tour of Europe. The itinerary included concerts in Spoleto, Budapest and Cheltenham.

A final letter to Princetonians about the trip appears below. It was written for TOWN TOPICS by Patricia Brackney, a member of the PHS Class of 1964 and of the choir, who has been our special correspondent throughout the tour.

Pat is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Brackney, 305 Dodds Lane.)

A week ago Budapest, Hungary, was to us a drab city with plain, almost despairing people. Now, as we look back on our stay there, we see it in a completely different light. After our exciting concert in Franz Liszt Music Hall we found ourselves no longer foreign outsiders but rather American friends to many of the people we met.

We stayed two more days after our concert on Tuesday to sing another folk song by Zoltan Kodaly with about four other international choral groups. Our performance was only a part of the evening's program, and thus it didn't take long, but what happened in that short time was surely the most unforgettable part of the whole evening.

The audience's response to the blended group singing was a thundering one for minutes on end. Then just like that night before, Mr. Kodaly walked slowly onto the stage and we sang his composition again, only to experience approval even more wild than before.

The excitement of that night was great for everyone, but especially for two altos. When Mr. Kodaly walked onto the stage he shook Mady Kann's hand, and when the director of the composition was presented with flowers, he gave them to Penny Wilkinson—two pleasing gestures to the girls and to the chair.

Meeting Hungarians. The evening before we left Budapest we had one more opportunity to meet and get acquainted with Hungarians. This time our bus took us to the meeting house of a group of musical and artistic Communist Hungarian youth where we enjoyed listening to a number of short vocal compositions and gathering together later for refreshments and conversation.

The songs performed were all typically forceful and vigorous as were the singers, but when we had to return to our dormitory, we realized how utterly sincere and honest they were. Everyone came outside to bid us good-bye, wishing us good luck and happiness.

Cary S. Kammler

We heard it said, "If man's important discoveries were divided into two groups, those como upon by accident, and those developed by technical process, the accidental group would be the larger by far." He said, "It seems that, more often than not, when reading about the start of important advancements, it is revealed it all began from a discovery someone stumbled over. This is not a criticism of science for if it were not for their training and alertness the discovery would not have been recognized in the first place, and in the second there would have been no follow through to develop the crude beginning into significant value. So in the final analysis the world owes much to its scientists. But, do not the facts also suggest that deserving men are 'guided' to a far greater extent than our human awareness tells us?" His thoughts are most interesting, and prompt us to think that if your chance reading of our column causes you to come do business with us you'll then agree a wealth of good has been the outcome for you too! REPORT FROM THOMPSON

On 88th Congress. Representative Frank Thompson, (D-NJ), serving Mercer and Burlington counties, has summarized his views on the accomplishments of the 88th Congress.

Mr. Thompson discusses the major legislation passed by Congress this year, including the Civil Rights Act and the tax cut. He also mentions bills of interest to Mercer and Burlington county residents now pending before Congress.

His report follows:

"With the House in recess, it may be appropriate to look back and assess the accomplishments of the 88th Congress. Quite frankly, I feel we have done rather well especially in view of the pessimism so rampant a few short months ago.

"It may be recalled that last September critics were deploring the lack of action on Capitol Hill and referring to us as the 'do - nothing' Congress. Well, we haven't been hearing that kind of talk for some time now. Indeed, the critics seem to have done an about-face and are now commenting upon our remarkable record.

Civil Rights

"Obviously, any assessment of this Congress has to begin with passage of the Civil Rights Act. The consensus, and I think it accurate, is that this legislation will do more to advance civil liberties in this nation than any single act since the Proclamation of Emancipation. That proclamation abolished slavery. The Civil Rights Act abolishes second-class citizenship.

"Those of us who worked and voted for the Bill did so in the full realization that it could not eliminate injustices based upon race overnight. Yet we have already seen miraculous results. In what other terms can one describe the phenomenon of Negroes being served in hitherto rigidly segregated restaurants in Jackson, Missippi, and being admitted to motels there as overnight guests?

"Tax Cut"

"Of almost equal significance to the Civil Rights Bill was passage of the bill reducing Federal income taxes — the largest single tax cut ever enacted. By all criteria — wages, profits, employment — the economy is booming along at an unprecedented pace thanks in large part to the impetus provided by the tax cut. As those of us who supported the measure predicted, Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer are taking advantage of the extra money in their paycheck to buy a new tire for the family car; budget a new roof for the house; or, simply, call in a baby-sitter and have an evening out for a change.

"If this Congress had done nothing else, it would deserve to go down in history. But classrooms for public and private colleges; enactment of a new scholarship program for medical students (in spite of AMA opposition); and a vast new program to expand and modernize vocational education. Of equal importance was enactment of the first comprehensive program for research in mental health and retardation. To its vast credit, our own State of New Jersey was the first state to qualify for and receive a research grant under this new program.

Mass Transit Measure

"More recently, we have witnessed passage of the Mass Transit Bill which awaits President Johnson's signature. The significance of this legislation, sponsored by New Jersey's Sen. Harrison A. Williams, can hardly be over-estimated. New Jersey is in superb position to reap the benefits of this new program and will, I am sure, move to do so the instant the ink is dry on the law.

"Looking back, we have accomplished a great deal, but there is still much we can do. The House has still to act upon the Wilderness Bill and the Land and Conservation Fund Bill.

The latter will be our first major order of business when we return in session. Both are of crucial importance — the Wilderness Bill to preserve open spaces for future generations; the Conservation Fund Bill to ensure monies to finance existing and future national recreation areas. Disposition of the Conservation Fund Bill may well determine the fate of pending legislation to create the Tocks Island National Recreation Area on the upper Delaware.

'Of Area Concern

"Of immediate and major interest to Mercer, Burlington and Bucks Counties is the Port Development Bill pending in the Senate. Every effort must nothing else, it would deserve to go down in history. But there is more. For good and ample reason, this may go down as the 'education' Congress.

Aid for Education

"Consider these accomplishments: legislation to help finance new dormitories and Development Bill pending in the Senate. Every effort must be made to bring this legislation to a hearing and a consideration of its merits. I would hope, too, that we might get affirmative action in the House on legislation which I have sponsored to create a

ZONING GUIDE READIED

For Industrial Planning. A guide to zoning for industry will soon be available for use by Princeton area municipalities and others within Mercer County. It has been prepared from a special study made by the county's industrial commission, according to Freeholder Frank J. Black, director.

The study, "Industry as a Good Neighbor," includes detailed information to aid in developing "industrial performance standards." With this relatively new zoning plan, classification as "light" or "heavy" industry is no longer required.

Instead, there are a number of specific measurements which test a company's operations on the basis of smoke, other air pollution, odors, noise, fire and explosion hazards and other determinants. Conducted in cooperation with the county's planning division, the study was made by Fred W. Goodwin of Hopewell, the commission's research consultant.

When completed, the report will be distributed to all municipal governing bodies, planning boards and other officials and to the various agencies, public and private, which are active in the county's industrial development program. The county industrial commission and planning division will help local planners in using the techniques outlined in the report.

FILM AVAILABLE

From Industrial Education. Industrial Education Films, Inc. has available for distribution the first motion picture to be produced demonstrating how building layouts should be planned.

Frederick W. Bright, president, stated that the film, "Systematic Layout Planning," provides a practical and economical method for teaching managers and technical people how to have the most efficient layouts for their specific operations. The film demonstrates layout techniques in plants, offices, warehouses, production areas and service departments for new buildings, leasehold and piece-meal improvements, major changes and relocations.

The 16mm sound motion picture with live action runs for 22 minutes in full color. It can be rented for five business days for $50, or purchased for $235.

"BUSY FOR BUSINESS"

At Chamber of Commerce. Princeton's Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council, acting as the "community's welcome mat," and "sponsor" of The Wally Byam Caravan, answers 100's of inquiries a year about the area and gives its backing to a great many community projects as well. This is the report from Council President Alan G. Frank in summing up the organization's current activities.

Or, as another Princetonian expressed it, "the chamber's record is impressive proof of the function it serves keeping 'busy for business.'" Now in its fifth year of operation, the Princeton Chamber has more than 200 members and an annual budget of $16,000 paid as dues — which range from $25 to $200 a year, depending on the size of the member firm, Mr. Frank states.

"Letters in recent weeks have asked the chamber such questions as: What are the Princeton schools like? What historic sites could a busload of Boy Scouts visit? Can a nurse moving here with her student husband find a job in a local hospital? How many retail shoe stores are there? And many others," Mr. Frank says.

Answers to the inquiries are provided by Donald L. Evans, the chamber's executive director, from the group's offices at 55 Palmer Square West. For many, there is an appropriate piece of literature about the Princeton area, but others require special research and a detailed report, says Mr. Evans.

"Where Can I Live?" Mr. Evans continues: "When someone indicates an interest in moving into the area, we circulate his name to our realtor members so that he can find the home he wants. Our most recent list carried 13 names plus one business firm seeking location for a small plant in the area."

But, while the organization is answering the "front door" callers, it isn't neglecting its civic duties in its own backyard, chamber officials state. For example "we have long been working on Washington for the final announcement on the long-needed new Princeton postoffice," says R. L. Lenhart, advertising executive and head of the chamber's postal committee.

Another significant activity in which the chamber has engaged is "Operation Flag," with the aid of American Legion Post 76, the Boy Scouts, the YMCA and the Borough Engineering Department.

Spruce Up Land

The New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development is making tree seedlings available to New Jersey residents who own 10 or more acres of land.

Grown at the nursery in Washington Crossing Park, the trees are Norway Spruce, white pine, Japanese larch, black locust and various other varieties. The program is under the direction of George R. Moorehead of the conservation department.

Mr. Moorehead said that the summer months make an ideal time to discover the spots needing reforestation. Advisors from the Bureau are available to assist in the planting program. Landowners can obtain further information by contacting the conservation department at Box 1889, Trenton.

HEAT WAVE: The summer's heat has turned these stop lines at the intersection of Chambers and Nassau Streets into graceful undulations.

Dear Princeton

were not as busy as those we've explained, though. We spent one, July 2, at the mountainside home of an American Legation member who had discovered we were in Budapest and insisted we visit her for lunch, swimming, golf, tennis, volleyball, and anything else she had available for us.

The occasion was perfectly scheduled because in the midst of it all, a couple of girls had planned a surprise anniversary party for the Hilbishs which succeded beautifully. Mr. and Mrs. Hilbish were at their best, as they and the other chaperones have been for the whole trip. They have all lost about twenty years and are working coastantly to make our trip enjoyable as well as profitable from beginning to end.

Change of Pace in Paris. On Friday we left Budapest for Paris and a complete change of pace. We flew to Frankfurt, Germany, first, where we stopped momentarily, noticing, among other things the beautiful flowers that are so characteristic of the country. Then off we went to Le Bourget Field just outside of Paris.

Our story in Paris was too much to believe. We were not only there for a three-day weekend, but we were there on the fourth of July, we were housed in luxurious hotels, and we were served fabulous meals. Our hours were always so filled with sightseeing and shopping that sleep was a secondary matter.

We toured Montmartre and Sacre Coeur, Opera Square, Place Vendome and the Ritz Hotel, l'Arc de Triomphe, Notre Dame, the Eiffel Tower, and so many other places of interest that we could not recount them all. One afternoon we spent at Malmaison, Napoleon and Josephine's home and Versailles, the ancient palace of Louis XIV with its ornate and imposing reception rooms and its revealing mirror room, among others.

The evening before we left, we attended Puccini's' "La Tosca" at the Opera House. The leading man was suddenly taken ill before the performance, much to our disappointment, but his replacement was excellent, as were all the others. Again we had to remind ourselves that we were in Paris, France, and the Opera House, a thought that still seems to be untrue!

By Jet to London. From Paris' Orly Field we took a Caravelle jet to London on Monday. Everyone enjoyed the flight — its lightness and quiet — especially as we flew over the English Channel, the countryside, and London, and were able to appreciate fully their beauty and majesty.

Cheltenham was the next stop, after about four hours of steady riding, we finally arrived at St. Paul's, the training school for boys in the city. We situated ourselves quickly and then came down for dinner, exhausted, remembering how Laura Bradshaw "just about lost her suitcase and how we toured the city about three times before finding the College."

Again, as in Spoleto, our minutes of free time are few and far between, for we are preparing quickly for the gala premiere performance of Peter Maxwell Davies' "Veni Sanctus Spiritus" cantata. We have been rehearsing in the mornings and the afternoons with Mr. Davies, a quiet but intense person, and a delight to work with.

Our trip time is certainly becoming fewer and farther between, also. We cannot seem to realize that we will be home again on July 17 — we still think that our stay thus far has been only the beginning of something that will last much longer. Thank you for making the beginning possible.

Topics Of The Town

Federal Council on the Arts.

"This recitation is not conclusive of all the 88th Congress has done, nor does it exhaust all that lies unfinished. The legislation which comprises the attack on poverty is on the agenda. It must and will be passed. Not until then can we say that we have honored in full measure the pledge which our late President Kennedy made to the nation.

REUNION TO BE HELD

By Stout Descendants. The descendants of Richard Stout and Penelope Van Princess will hold their 36th annual reunion, rain or shine, on Saturday, August 8, 10 a.m. at the Calvary Baptist Church in Hopewell.

Lunch hour is 12 noon and all are asked to bring a basket lunch. Dr. Kenn Stryker-Rodda, F.A.S.G. author, editor and lecturer, New Jersey Genealogy, will speak on the topic "Are Your Ancestors Dead?"

All by the name of Stout and allied families and their friends are welcome. Those attending are asked to bring a list of their immediate family, giving dates of marriages, births, deaths; a listing of parents, grandparents, and great-grandparents for as far back as they have knowledge.

Keep Cool..& Shapely Too!

If your answer to the heat-plus-humidity problem is to strip down to the skimpiest bra and briefs, you may be surprised that this isn't as cooling as you thought.

Why so? Because feeling physically cool is largely a state of mind. When a girl wears merely the barest essentials, she is likely to feel less attractive, less confident and, therefore, less cool, calm and comfortable. But if the ideal life for you includes unstockinged toes peeking out of sandals and just a shift over your underpinnings, there are still ways for you to compromise with the demands of grooming because there are so many light "little nothing" type bras and girdles for all figure types.

Such as Bikini panties and bras and Smoothie panties thin girdles that give you control and better looks — and the new Warner lace elastic bras — all are at Bailey's.

You can be fitted by experienced couturiers for the best fit, all at a low cost. Stop in and we will help you. Keep cool, with the best fit you ever had.

By JOHN F. BERNARD

In case you didn't know it, a giraffe and a mouse have the same number of neckbones . . . Little wonder limburger cheese is such smelly stuff — a single gram contains over six billion tiny mold plants and up to 360 billion bacteria . . . The first 1800 miles of the earth's surface is solid . . . Forty-seven years ago a federal income tax law went into effect. The first year Uncle Sam collected about 35 million dollars in taxes. Today's take exceeds 68 billion dollars . . .

Whether you like to have your neck out like a giraffe or are conservative like a mouse . . . there are certain basic facts about insurance coverage which only an experienced expert can point out to you. IVY LEAGUER IN CLASSIC?

Wood of Cornell, Early-summer reports emanating from the New York Giants' training camp at Fairfield, Conn., indicate that an alumnus of the much-maligned, "de-emphasized" Ivy League may be playing a key role in the Giant scheme of things when the New Yorkers take the field here in Palmer Stadium against the Philadelphia Eagles on August 29th in the Third Annual Jaycee Classic.

The versatile young man in the spotlight is Gary Wood, who largely re-wrote the Ivy League record book while directing the Cornell offensive in 1961-63. On the basis of a fortnight of practice the Big Red Alumnus, a native of Cortland, N.Y., is the leading candidate as the understudy for the Giants' venerable Y. A. Tittle, professional football's "Mr. Quarterback".

Wood, confident that he can make the grade in the play-for-cash-and-glory circuit, was the Number 8 choice of the Giants in the 1963 draft of college prayers. A strong-armed passer with speed to the outside, Wood is also numbered among the Giants' top prospects as a defensive halfback

MRS. WARGA SCORES

In State Tourney. Mrs. James Warga, Springdale Golf Club's long-hitting representative, scored impressively in the recently concluded 41st Annual Womens New Jersey Golf Association Championship. Playing in a topnotch field dominated by Montclair's Mrs. Philip Cudone. Mrs. Warga finished in fourth place with a highly commendable 54-hole total of 236 representing successive rounds of 85, 85, and 86. For the victorious Mrs. Cudone it was her fifth straight triumph in the State Championship.

VALENTI HURLS SHUTOUT In Business Softball. Engineering Research's Carl Valenti threw a two-hit shutout, a rarity in slow-pitch softball, as ERC triumphed over American Cyanamid, 5-0. The win enabled ERC to remain one game out of first place, as front running RCA and ETS both won their games.

Valenti's fine pitching was supported by the hitting of Bob Easton, Don Machusak and Vincent Graziano. Ray Cevera got both hits for Cyanamid.

Soring eight runs in the first inning, ETS crushed EMR 18-4, aided by Bert King's three-run home run and Al Myers' two hits in the first inning. Jack Dilworth, with the help of fine fielding plays by Bones Gilbert and Jack Rhubart, outpitched Paul Crea to gain the win. Frank Osborne had a four bagger and Bucky Osborne made several fine plays at shortstop for EMR.

Behind the pitching of Jack Bartow, Accelerator trounced Hopewell TV, 13-1, to remain tied with ERC for third place. Barry Hibbs went 4 for 5, including a home run. Ed Gorski and John Rzucek both hit round trippers, Carl Schuler had three hits in five trips, and Carl Pallaver managed to go 2 for 2 as a substitute. Bill Hoagland clouted a home run for Hopewell TV, and Joe Castoro took the loss.

In the final game RCA won by forfeit when Princeton Hospital failed to field enough men.

TIGERS FENCERS NAMED

To Olympic Fencing Team. Two Princeton alumni, Frank Anger '61 and Henry Kolowrat '54, have been selected for berths on the US Olympic Fencing Team at the close of the fencing tryouts at the World's Fair pavillion.

Anger, a member of the Olympic squad in 1960, defeated Larry Anastasi from Salle Csiszar, Philadelphia, 5-0 in a fence-off for first place on the squad. Kolowrat placed seventh and was named second alternate for the team.

Anger started his fencing at Princeton under Coach Stanley Sieja and won the Epee Championship in the Eastern Collegiate Championships in 1960. In 1962 he became Epee Champion in the Pan-American games.

Sieja, whose Princeton team won the NCAA Fencing Championship this year, was appointed director of the Olympic Fencing Camp at East Stroudsburg State College where 76 members of the mens' and womens' Olympic squads and Olympic aspirants attended. Sieja also assisted in the coaching of the Olympic fencing squad in 1952.

REGULATIONS ADOPTED

For 1964 Hunting Season. The 1964 New Jersey Hunting Regulations have been adopted by the Fish and Game Council of the Department of Conservation and Economic Development. Prior to final adoption of the Game Code, a public hearing was held and consideration given to suggestions from sportsmen and interested citizens.

A special one-day season, Saturday, December 19, was established for hunting deer of either sex by permit only. The regular firearm deer season will run from December 7-12. Bucks only may be shot except in a "hunter choice" area in the northern metropolitan region, largely comprised of counties not included in the special permit season.

The bow and arrow season for deer of either sex will run from October 3 through November 5. Licensed bow and arrow hunters may hunt bucks during the shotgun deer season if they are unsuccessful during the bow and arrow season. If they bagged a deer during the bow season, they may still hunt with a shot gun under the proper license, but only one deer may be shot.

Bear may also be hunted during either the bow or firearm deer seasons under the proper license, with a one bear limit for the year. Hunting hours will be one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset during the bow season, and 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the firearm and permit deer season.

Small game season for pheasant, rabbit, grouse, squirrel, quail and fox will run from 9 a.m. on November 7 through December 5. All seasons except pheasant will re-open on December 14 for varying periods, with no small game hunting on December 19. Foxes may be hunted without hounds during the firearm season and on December 19 from 7 a.m. - 5 p.m.

After opening day, small game hunting hours will be sunrise to one half hour after sunset, with bag limits the same as last year. Raccoon hunting will run from September 26 to March 14, 1965 with hours from sunset to sunrise.

Woodchuck season will be from March 13 to October 1, 1965. Holders of specal permits may use rifles to hunt woodchucks during this season, and properly licensed hunters may use shotgun or bow and arrow.

Trapping of mink, muskrat and raccoon will begin at 6 a.m. on November 15 in the area north and west of US Route 1 and on December 1 in the rest of the state, except on State Public Shooting Grounds. Trapping on Public Shooting Grounds will start on January 1, 1965 and other special regulations apply on these lands. All trapping will end on March 15, 1965, and there will be no beaver or otter trappings this year.

Migratory bird regulations governing ducks, geese, brant, rail, woodcock and snipe will be adopted by the Council following publication of federal regulations for the Atlantic flyway. Detailed information about hunting regulations will be compiled in the 1964 Compendium of New Jersey Game Laws available in early fall, followed by a migratory bird supplement. These may be obtained free from hunting license agents or the Division of Fish and Game.

KATZES WIN MIXED DOUBLES: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Katz (left) captured the mixed doubles title Saturday morning at the University Courts when they defeated Mrs. Jody Wimberg and Raja Khalifah, 7-5, 7-9, 6-2. John Springer (center) physical director at the Princeton YMCA, which sponsored the tournament, presents the trophies.

Housing for Elderly

The Borough Housing Authority has received official notification from Washington empowering it to proceed with the development of 50 units for the elderly on North Harrison Street.

Thomas P. Cook, attorney for the Authority, has been instructed to negotiate purchase of the 2½ acre plot from the owners, Charles LaPlaca and Charles Goodwin. Kenneth Kassler, architect for the units, has been asked to proceed with the preparation of detailed plans and working drawings for the development.

Designed specifically for elderly persons of low income, the project will be open to people who have lived in the borough for at least three years. It had been approved by the borough planning and zoning boards and by the Mayor and Council.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home in the Princeton area. By their own figures, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

Cool and Capacious Colonial

Ensconced happily against a background of lovely tall trees on three sides and facing a quiet West End street, this brick and shingle Colonial has a nicely settled in look that belies its mere 4 years. However, youth, construction and fine care have combined to keep it in excellent condition, particularly remarkable for a house that was built for and inhabited by a large family.

Virtually every room in the house is large to extra-large; closets are innumerable (several are walk-ins); storage space is almost unlimited; and the whole house is COOL, COOL, COOL. Very little temperature difference between first and second floors on a hot summer day indicates insulation that augurs well for winter too.

Entrance hall, living room, library, dining room, marvelous modern family kitchen with eating extension, laundry, powder room are on the 1st floor. Upstairs are 5 lovely double bedrooms and 3 tiled baths. Downstairs factually basement but with nothing visible to remind you of it) is almost all paneled and includes playroom with built-in bar, large bedroom, real working study, storage or workroom and, essential if not exciting, heater room. 2 acres, 2 car garage, about 2 miles from town center, 2 minutes from Johnson Park School. $85,000

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

All rights reserved. © P. Stebbins & Co., Inc., New York.

IF YOU'RE "FROM MISSOURI"

Modernity of Electrical Heating Discussed

"Well, you've got to show me.

"Electricity for complete home heating is the fuel-of-tomorrow today? I'm from Missouri.

That, says a pioneer expert in electrical heating, is the kind of question and challenge he likes.

"Wish I could have each and every 'Missourian' as guest for in week in my home. That's it's show 'em. Wife wouldn't like it, though.

"Furthermore, it's not necessary. Just a glance down a standard checklist of what electrical heating delivers, tells the story."

Among the advantages of electrical heating are:

—Instant availability.

—Room-by-room temperature control with individual thermostats. Work area can be set at 65 degrees if so desired and the family room at 76).

—No hot spots, no drafts (construction standards have been worked out as the "perfect partner" to the perfect fuel to assure maximum comfort and efficiency.)

—Decorating freedom. (No clumsy radiators to use up room space. Electrical baseboards are never hot to the touch, just pleasantly warm.)

—Low — or no — maintenance costs. Electrical heating systems are expected to last the life of the house. (There are few, nor no moving parts).

RETIREMENT HOMES

Writes a reader of this column:

"Recently you've had articles on retirement colonies — They're the ones that are making the biggest real estate news these days — and also on the vacation home . . . often within an hour's drive of the "regular home" . . . which will someday be adapted to the retired way of life. . . "Well, you've overlooked one of the hardest to find statistics on — but one that I as a builder find is far more popular than you might imagine.

"It's not in any special colony (though don't get me wrong, the colony idea is a pretty good deal for folks who like the idea) nor is it the well-built vacation hideaway. It's a new house, will all modern work saving features, and labor-saving electrical heating, right in the old neighborhood.

"People want what they want . . . and some folks never did take to the idea of a vacation home. One home was enough.

"However, plenty of my customers are smart enough to know that fighting a poorly equipped house that maybe never was quite right gets harder every year.

"I'm not giving any formulas — just want to pass along the word if you don't want to retire to a colony, or travel an hour back to the old locale, see what you can do about trading off your old house, you retirees, for a smaller better new house . . . with electrical heating throughout.

"Why electrical heating? It gives the maximum in comfort, is virtually trouble-free. Nothing you have to store, so there's nothing you have to re-order. Few or no moving parts to get out of whack, so no repair and maintenance problems.

"Believe me, that's really living."

QUESTION BOX

Q. Can you tell us which is the best type of attic vent for an electrically heated house? One friend says the ridge type, another says the eave style.

A. There are about half a dozen styles in use. All are highly satisfactory when compatible with the buildings themselves. The question was once answered with the following examples:
"Do you have cathedral-type ceilings? Well, the ridge type has been described particularly useful in such an instance.
"But maybe you don't have cathedral-type ceilings. Maybe a gable vent is "best" for you. The style of your house and the skill of your builder solve your problems."

Q. Why does an electric heating system need a separate circuit?

A. It's not just your heating sytem that gets a separate circuit. So, according to Medallion standards, does your washer, your range or any other major appliance. Further for good measure, and to "measure" up to future needs, Medallion standards provide sufficient extra circuits for equipment you may want to add in future years. Maybe even something that isn't invented yet! The idea being that with plenty of extra provisions when the heavy housepower wiring is installed, you're not going to need adaptations to wiring at some future date when costs will presumably be higher.

Q. Would you comment on electrical heating and allergy relief?

A. No manufacturer of electrical heating equipment has ever called it an allergy "cure." The fact that some have so described it is said to be attributable to the fact that "the controlled environment is undoubtedly of benefit to some types of allergy.
"Sufferers from thermal allergies may find relief in the evenness of the heat. Other allergy sufferers may find relief in the clean environment achieveable with electrical heating."

THE BOROUGH OF PRINCETON POLICE DEPARTMENT and the PRINCETON SMALL ANIMAL RESCUE LEAGUE wish to remind people who are going away on vacation or leaving town permanently that to leave a dog, cat or other animal unprovided for is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of 250 dollars, six months' imprisonment, or both.

THE SMALL ANIMAL RESCUE LEAGUE points out that it is far better to have an animal humanely destroyed than to abandon it, as is too often done. Mrs. Graves, Director of the Lost, Found and Adoption Service of the Small Animal Rescue League, 921-6122 is always glad to answer inquiries concerning such problems.
